SPEAKER RICHARD CORCORAN NAMES CONSTITUTION REVISION COMMISSION APPOINTEES

Tallahassee, FL – Speaker Richard Corcoran today announced his nine appointments to the Constitution Revision Commission. Upon announcing his selections, Speaker Corcoran said, “I've said it on numerous occasions, I would only appoint Commission Members who understood and respected the role of our constitution and the separation of powers. I believe all these appointees share that respect and understanding. With that as a foundation, these appointees are diverse, principled, and won't march in lockstep with anyone. And my only charge to each has been to do what they believe to be right. I am sure that each Member appointed today will do their part to ensure freedom and the rule of law are embodied in our final product.

Speaker Corcoran went on to say, “This decision was difficult and many distinguished and capable leaders were considered. I thank all who submitted applications or expressed their desire to serve. Florida is blessed with incredible men and women who are eager to serve and I won't forget the dozens who sought to enter the arena.”

Speaker Corcoran concluded by saying, “The decision making process did place a premium on past or current elected office. The rationale behind this being that those who have placed their name before the people have an excellent understanding who they work for.”

The appointees are as follows:
